

Dimitris Kollias, Development Manager Greenesco Energy S.A.

A senior sales and business development manager, consultant and strategic partner who lays the foundations and promotes the maturation of large projects with a positive environmental and social impact.

Experience in introducing pioneering 'intelligent green energy solutions' to buildings and other facilities (public and private), encouraging technological innovation and the 'green transition'.

An important influencer with a focus on ensuring the full involvement of all stakeholders in an energy savings project, in the role of formulating development strategies and cultivating a wide network of key contacts in the private and public sectors.

Concentrates on resources and actions to achieve attainable growth results and involves a long-term process in cultivating synergies, partnerships, memorandums and the implementation of environmental awareness programs in collaboration with public institutions, NGOs and the CSR and ESG departments of large corporations.